

Visit the Mountain Boulevard bench with the teal ribbons blowing in the breeze and gaze upon Watchung Lake. This new bench was dedicated to a beloved wife who passed from ovarian cancer.

In the din of the early morning or the late evening feel the serenity and hear the silence of the lake and its surroundings.

Hear also the silence of ovarian cancer. Ovarian cancer was once considered a “silent” disease, but research has shown there are early warning signs of this disease.

Stop and rest at this bench or walk around Watchung Lake and take an ovarian cancer symptom card from the teal ribbons which surround the lake.

Lynn Stahl and Lynn Franklin, volunteers who work on behalf of ovarian cancer awareness, decorated the area with teal bows and ribbons as teal is the color of ovarian cancer awareness and September is national Ovarian Cancer Awareness Month.
